EPFO's passive bets pay off as active managers struggle

Returns from active funds fail to match benchmarks

SACHIN P MAMPATTA
Mumbai, 5 July

The Employees' Provident Fund Organisation's (EPFO's) dependence on low-cost passive funds is starting to look smarter with each passing day, as active fund managers struggle to meet benchmark returns.

An analysis of the data from Value Research, a fund tracker, shows a majority of active funds have failed to beat their benchmarks in both the large-cap and mid-cap space. Small-cap funds are the only ones where active funds have outperformed.

The EPFO's equity allocations have been made to passively managed funds, which seek to mimic the benchmark, instead of beating it. This means their returns closely match the index. This is unlike actively managed funds, whose returns can differ from the benchmark because of the fund manager's calls. Till recently, these calls have helped Indian fund managers outperform. This may be changing.

A Business Standard analysis looked at actively managed, open-ended equity schemes and compared their performance to their respective benchmarks. These were divided into large-cap, mid-cap and small-cap funds. Returns were considered for direct schemes over one-, three- and five-year periods for 58 schemes.

A majority of the schemes examined in the analysis have underperformed their benchmarks over the last year. Only 44.4 per cent of mid-cap schemes outperformed their benchmarks over the past year. Only a third (33.33 per cent) did so over three years. It is 88.9 per cent at the five-year mark.

This seems to indicate the underperformance is a more recent phenomenon. Fund managers are finding it more difficult to outperform than they did earlier. Their outperformance at the five-year mark is because of higher returns in earlier years.

This trend had already made itself felt in the large-cap

SMALL IS BIG

Note: Return as on July 2, 2018. Direct plans of schemes for which returns over one, three and five-year periods were available have been considered. The analysis looked at a total of 58 such schemes in the small, mid and large-cap categories.

space. Only 13.3 per cent outperformed in the last year. The figures at the three-year and five-year marks are 46.7 per cent and 83.3 per cent, respectively.

The small-cap space is the one where active fund management has managed to add significant value. All the schemes under examination beat benchmarks over the last one year, improving their performance over previous periods.

The median outperformance is in double digits for small-cap funds over the last one year. It is negative for mid-cap and large-cap funds over one- and three-year periods.

The findings are contrary to active fund manager's documented outperformance in emerging markets.

A paper by the University of California noted significant difference in returns over passive funds. "...actively managed mutual funds yielded superior average 3 year net-of-fees returns of approximately 2.87% over passively-managed ETFs," said the 2012 paper, authored by Klemens Kremnitzer.

Research has previously suggested that emerging markets may simply be less efficient. Information is less readily available; there are fewer companies that receive wide coverage. This allows fund managers to outperform the market.

Experts say that while active funds may have underperformed on a point-to-point basis, this may be a short-term phenomenon.

Dhirendra Kumar, chief executive officer of Value Research, agreed that the index is representative of an inefficient marketplace in emerging markets like India, which makes it easier to beat.

This would also mean that active fund managers can continue to add value, although this may not be reflected in the short term. "It is not possible for fund managers to get (it) right every year," he said.

Vidya Bala, head (mutual fund research), FundsIndia agreed, while noting that the margin of outperformance had been shrinking for large-cap funds. "In my opinion, the passive versus active can be very much an active debate in the large-cap space. In the mid-cap space and in the multi-cap space, I think there are enough returns being generated by active investing that cannot be easily made up by any passive nor semi-passive strategy," she said.

Nifty FMCG index hits new high

Analysts remain bullish on rural economy and consumption space, given MSP hike, monsoon

DEEPAK KORGAONKAR &
PUNEET WADHWHA
Mumbai/New Delhi, 5 July

Shares of fast-moving consumer goods (FMCG) ended higher for the second straight session on expectations of a rise in rural consumption, after the Union Cabinet on Wednesday approved a hike in minimum support prices (MSP) for Kharif crops by 1.5 times the input cost, for the 2018-19 season.

The Nifty FMCG index hit a new high of 29,520 on the National Stock Exchange (NSE) in intra-day trade on Thursday, surpassing its previous high of 29,161 recorded on June 13. The FMCG index was the largest gainer among sectoral indices, up 1 per cent at 29,399 points, as compared to a 0.19 per cent decline in the Nifty 50 index on Thursday.

Analysts remain bullish on the rural economy and the consumption space, given the recent development and the fact that weather forecasters—both government-owned and private—are predicting a normal monsoon this year. This, they say, can help boost rural consumption, while keeping a check on inflation.

"The Budget promise, if implemented correctly, will boost farmers' income, speed up consumption and have a positive effect on the economy. The market cheered this development. A host of companies in the auto and consumer space will reap the benefits of more money coming into the hands of rural India," analysts at IIFL Wealth Management said in a note.

Among individual stocks, Hindustan Unilever (HUL) gained 1 per cent to hit a new high of ₹1,692 levels, extending its previous day's 2 per cent gain on Thursday. While ITC rallied 3 per cent to ₹273, Emami and Marico went up 1 per cent each on Thursday.

Though the outcome of the general elections scheduled for 2019 remains uncertain, analysts at Nomura think the government will focus on rural and agricultural economy in the run-up to the event.

"There are signs of a pick-up in rural economy, which are reflected in improving volume growth in rural India reported by FMCG companies, improving sales of tractors and automobiles and expanding agri/tractor financing loan book of NBFCs," said Saion Mukherjee, Neelotpal Sahu and Sanjay Kadam of Nomura in a recent report.

QUICK TAKE: LIMITED DOWNSIDE FOR ZINC

Along with other metals, zinc too is down sharply and is now trading near 52-week lows on rising geopolitical tensions. However, analysts see limited downside as demand is high, though upsides will also remain capped on fresh supplies

Compiled by BS Research Bureau

Mahindra and Mahindra Financial Services, Hero MotoCorp, Crompton Greaves Consumer Electrical, Dabur India, and Mahindra and Mahindra are the five stocks Nomura believes will benefit in this backdrop. Besides the forecast of a normal monsoon in 2018-19, the likely absence of disruptive events (like demonetisation or the goods and services tax), a higher minimum support price for Kharif crops, and a robust new launch pipeline and distribution expansion (undertaken by most companies in the last three-four years)—are some of the factors, analysts at Motilal Oswal believe, lend confidence about a further recovery in rural growth.

Hindustan Unilever, Britannia Industries, Emami, Colgate-Palmolive and Dabur are their preferred names to play the rural recovery theme.

Infosys stock slumps 5%

BS REPORTER
Mumbai, 5 July

Infosys shares fell 4.55 per cent on Thursday, the most since August 21, 2017. The stock ended at ₹1,284 after climbing to a lifetime high of ₹1,354 on Tuesday.

The stock is still up 24 per cent this year. In comparison, the benchmark Nifty has gained two per cent and the Nifty IT index, a gauge for the performance of technology stocks, has gained 20 per cent in 2018. The NSE IT index on Thursday fell just 1.1 per cent as other heavyweight Wipro, TCS and HCL Technologies ended with gains of more than half a per cent amid the rupee closing at a new low of 68.94 against the dollar.

The exact reason for the sell-off in the stock, which caused a market cap erosion of ₹131 billion, was not evident.

Market access set to get tough for UAE, Mauritius, 23 others

PAVAN LALL
Mumbai, 5 July

Participation in Indian markets will get more difficult for foreign institutions based in Mauritius, the second-largest source of foreign portfolio investor (FPI) flows after the US.

According to people with knowledge of the matter, the global custodians—through whom FPIs route their investments—have identified 25 nations including Mauritius, Cyprus and the United Arab Emirates (UAE) as 'high risk' jurisdictions. This means, offshore funds investing through these countries will have to comply with stricter know your customer (KYC) norms and other compliance norms.

Currently, KYC requirements of FPIs are based on the category they fall under. Category-I and -II FPIs, which are considered low-risk investors, need to provide minimum documentation, while Category-III FPIs, which are unregulated entities, are subject to additional disclosures. Going forward, even sovereign funds and 'appropriately' regulated funds coming from these high jurisdictions will have to comply with the additional documentation requirement.

Further, norms for beneficial ownership (BO) will also be stricter for these high-risk jurisdictions especially for NRIs and PIOs. As per Sebi FPI regulations, no NRI or PIO can be the beneficial owner of an FPI and ownership is determined based on a shareholding test. No NRI or PIO can own more than 25 per cent in a FPI. However, for funds based out of high-risk jurisdictions, the threshold is as low as 10 per cent.

THE COMPASS

Swadhaar buyout to support RBL Bank's plans, regulatory need

Established network in rural areas to help sell more of retail products, aid priority sector lending

SHREEPAD SAUTE

After a strong performance in 2017-18, investors have given a thumbs-up to RBL Bank's move to hike stake to 100 per cent from the current 60.5 per cent in Swadhaar Finserve, which offers services in underbanked areas.

Since the announcement on June 28, RBL's stock has gained about five per cent, outperforming the 0.4 per cent rise in the Nifty Bank index.

The deal is unlikely to boost RBL's loan book directly since Swadhaar (the bank's business correspondent), was sharing its entire loan book (₹20 billion as of March) with RBL even before. Even so, there are synergies to benefit from.

"The deal would help RBL expand reach in rural areas (the majority of its branches are in urban areas) through Swadhaar's 331 branches across 16 states and two Union Territories," said Harjeet Toor, head of RBL's non-wholesale business.

More, RBL can sell other retail products (those aimed at individuals) and increase cross-selling through this network, including lending to small and medium enterprises (SMEs), and micro finance.

Also, RBL's priority sector lending, about 70 per cent of its non-wholesale book as of March, is likely to get a leg-up. In 2017-18, Swadhaar contributed about 14 per cent to RBL's overall priority sector lending.

There are other cost and regulatory benefits. With Swadhaar's branches, RBL would no longer need to spend extra to meet the Reserve Bank of India's norm of 25 per cent outlets in unbanked areas.

Analysts expect RBL to clock 35 per cent growth in advances and a 30 basis point expansion in net interest margin to 3.8 per cent in 2018-19.

More, its non-performing assets (gross NPA were at 1.4 per cent of advances as of March) are likely to improve on the back of a strong loan book and improving recoveries across segments," according to Payal Pandya, analyst at Centrum Wealth Research. She is positive on the stock.

Graphite electrode makers' prospects look bright

Light supplies to keep prices firm, help Graphite India and HEG contracts for higher realisations

UJJVAL JAUHARI

Shares of graphite electrode producers HEG and Graphite India hit new highs on Thursday on firm outlook for that business. The uptrend in demand and realisation for graphite electrodes, which has helped these stocks gain substantially in the past year, is likely to sustain. This is keeping the Street bullish on both.

Graphite electrodes, used in production of steel through the electric arc furnace method, have had a surge in demand from 2016, till when it was subdued. With supplies tightening and capacity additions limited for graphite electrodes, the companies benefitted. Electrode prices surged around five times in the past year. This is expected to rise further, on the back of strong demand.

According to analysts, needle coke, a key raw material for ultra-high power grade graphite electrodes, is seeing no growth in supply. Graphite India and HEG command 22 per cent market share globally. Additionally, reduced supply of Chinese steel has led to revival of steel manufacturing in importing countries, which predominantly produce via electric arc furnace. This, too, is adding to the demand for graphite electrodes.

Constrained supply of needle coke and consolidation in the electrode industry is restricting the increase in electrode supply, according to analysts at Jefferies.

With constrained supplies, foreign brokerage Macquarie expects graphite electrode prices to stay strong for the next three years, despite the five times rise seen already. With no substitute, growing demand and limited supply, graphite electrode is more a 'strategic resource' than a 'commodity'.

HEG and Graphite India have also booked new contracts at higher prices compared to the March-quarter realisation of $8,500-11,800 per tonne. Analysts are building in per-tonne realisation at $12,500 and $13,500 in 2018-19 and 2019-20, respectively.

With annual demand growing 12 per cent and rise in supplies at eight per cent over 2017-22, electrode manufacturers should see more gain. Macquarie estimates a 267 and 147 per cent year-on-year growth in earnings per share for Graphite India and HEG. Target prices of the two foreign brokerages indicate an upside potential of 30 per cent for Graphite India and 15-27 per cent for HEG.
